SEN 101 – Principle of Programming

Course Code: SEN 101

Lecturer: Dr. John

Description: An introductory course to programming concepts including variables, data types, control structures, functions, and basic problem■solving using a modern programming language. Students will learn how to design, implement, test, and debug simple programs and build logical thinking skills.